COMPETITION NEWS

WORKSHOP RECITAL NEWS: Any participant of a Workshop Recital is eligible to receive an evaluation and a "mini" Master Class (about 10 – 15 minutes) at the end of the recital. The Artistic Director and Chairperson of the Workshop Recital, Yelena Ivanov, will give this evaluation. Those teachers, who wish for their students to be evaluated must include a written request along with their student's recital repertoire and must send in a check in the amount of $25.00 payable to the Young Pianist Competition of New Jersey. This request could be submitted only by teachers.

CONCERTO COMPETITION NEWS: Starting from 2004 Concerto Competition, YPCNJ will no longer accept teachers as accompanists for their students during the actual competition. Teachers are still welcomed to accompany their students during the winners' recital. For those who require help finding an accompanist, please call our Competition Administrator, Julia Reina at 908-218-9235.

CONCERT SERIES AT THE SHIMON AND SARA BIRNBAUM JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER IN BRIDGEWATER: YPCNJ sponsors a series of concerts held on Wednesday Matinees at 1:00 PM. We are actively searching for students ready to perform during these concerts. The next two concerts will be on October 6, 2004 & December 1, 2004. For those teachers who would like to showcase their students, please contact Yelena Ivanov as soon as possible.

MEMBER NEWS

ROBERT MURRAY DIFENDORF: "Release the Butterfly is a one of a kind book on teaching music, addressing the all the needs of a music educator from practical to psychological to profoundly musical, in lucid, elegant prose and a readable format. "

- Hailed by Seymour Bernstein as "deep, philosophical,"
- and Lillian Livingston as "a tribute to the teaching profession,"
- and accepted into the Lincoln Center Library for the Performing Arts,

Release the Butterfly fills the gap that exists for books on music pedagogy in general, and the modern thinking music educator in particular. It is also a beautifully designed book, with aesthetically pleasing paper and typesetting to make for an all round pleasurable read.

Go to www.releasebutterfly.com to read reviews and the Release the Butterfly Newsletter, including the Alphabet Diaries, addressing learning challenges.

- The book can be read in short "dips" or at a stretch for maximum effect.
- As the school year approaches, teachers and music majors may want to be "energized,"
- or may simply want to reinforce the humane, nurturing, holistic philosophies that we all strive for, in clear and inspiring language.

Please distribute this email to other faculty and students of music at your school, or post a printout version if possible. Books may be ordered through your bookstore via Baker and Taylor, or through special discount/drop shipment through the publisher, via this email or 609-439-1915. To sign up for the newsletter and/or Alphabet Diaries, please email me and write SUBSCRIBE TO in the subject heading. I thank you for your time and wish you powerful and joyous teaching.

TOMOKO HARADA: is now an adjunct professor at Seton Hall University, and for 2003-2004 year, she has served as an adjudicator for MTNA piano performance competition for the state of NJ for junior high, senior high, and collegiate levels. She was also a judge for the Manalapan Battleground Symphony Young Artists Concerto competition, as well as NJMTA's annual spring recital auditions and Golden Key Arts and Music Festival Competition. In February, her students, Victor Hsue (First Place, Level I), John Wu (First Place, Level II), Daniel Kahn (First Place, Level III), Javian Le (Second Place, Level IV), and Yinfei Xu (Third Place, level IV) were winners of the Federation Music Club Gifted Students Competition. In April, Javian Le was the scholarship winner of the Fifteenth Florence Boughton Competition for Young Artists, and Daniel Kahn won the first place winner in his age group for the Piano Teachers Congress of NY annual Young Pianist Honors Recital. A total of 10 students performed at the Weill Recital Hall at Carnegie Hall for winning competitions in the spring.

RAY LANDERS: Arjun Ayyangar, who is now 6 years old, will appear on the Animal Planet international network TV show, "Most Extreme Tough Babies" on September 7 at 9 PM, repeated at midnight and 4 AM on the 8th. He appears about 37 minutes into the show. His musical, mathematical, and geographical knowledge will be emphasized. He just returned from California where he filmed a new "America's Talented Kid" show, which will appear, on network TV in December. He, his family and I are going to Hollywood on October 8th where we will appear as part of a Democratic fund-raising concert. Arjun will be presenting a special solo concert at Trenton's War Memorial Auditorium and will appear with several other of my students at Philadelphia's Kimmell Center as part of the UNICEF/Steinway "Peace Piano" world fund-raising tour. He recently played the second movement of the Haydn D major concerto with the International Music Festival Orchestra in Cleveland and he and I played concerts together in Haines City FL, New Orleans LA, Moultrie GA, and Cleveland OH. I have just accepted a new part time job a special high school for problem students and look forward to the challenge. I will continue to teach students of all ages privately and continue my workshops and writing. Also, the International Music Festival I founded and am the artistic director will have three locations as of 2005- Cleveland, New Jersey, and California. I also attended conferences in Minneapolis and Kansas City. I would love to hear news from each of you.

SOFIA OSOSKOV: Student Brian Lee won Young People Piano Competition sponsored by International Concert Alliance. He performed at CAMI Hall in New York City on May 23, 2004. Brian also won piano competition of Young People's Music Program sponsored by Chinese American Cultural Society.

LENA SOLAIMAN: Students Ben Song (10) and Janet Song (12) were awarded the Silver Medal of Level 6 and Gold Medal of Level 8 at the World Piano Competition at Cincinnati in July, 2004. They will subsequently perform at the Carnegie Hall and the United Nations in October of 2004. Lucy Zhang (14) received the 2nd Prize at the North Penn Symphonic Orchestra Piano Concerto Competition in March, 2004.

SONDRA TAMMAM: co-directed the 2nd Dorothy Taubman Seminar presenting Dorothy Taubman on June 3-6 at CAMI Hall in NYC with Paul Maillet, Eleanor Hancock and Maria del Pico Taylor. The 3rd Festival will be June 23-26, 2005 also at CAMI. Other events are on <http://www.taubmanseminars.com/>. Ms. Tammam will be a judge at the Frinna Averbuch International Piano Competition of the Piano Teachers Congress in NYC in October. In November she will also judge the Westminster College (Rider University) Concerto Competition. She will also perform a concert for the Suburban Music Club that month. This summer, her student, Henry Namkung, attended the Mannes College of Music (New School) International Piano Festival, as a student of Nina Lelchuk.

GOLDA TATZ: Tureck International Bach Competition will be launching in Spring of 2006, in New York City. More information can be obtained from Golda Tatz, Director (212) 873 6087 TureckBach@aol.com, www.TureckBachCompetition.com. For those who are interested, a repertoire list is already available upon request.

ALUMNI NEWS

KEVIN JANG (student of Yelena Ivanov) has won three international piano competitions in last June and July: First Place at the 19th International Young Artist Piano Competition in Washington D.C., First Prize at the 19th Rovere d'Oro International Young Talents Piano Competition in San Bartolomeo al Mare, Italy, and the 7th Junior Division Concerto Competition at the Festival "Musica in Laguna" in Chioggia, Italy. By winning the Concerto Competition, he has performed J. S. Bach's Piano Concerto in F Minor, BWV 1056, on July 9, 2004, with the orchestra "Giavane Sinfonietta Clodiense", under the direction of Maestro Pietro Perini at St. Nicolò Auditorium in Chioggia, Italy.

GEORGE LYKOGIANNIS, student of Yelena & Lana Ivanov, participated this past summer as a scholarship recipient at the ARIA International Summer Academy. During the one-month program, George partook in lessons, master classes & recitals with several prestigious professors from some of the most notable conservatories, namely Boris Slutsky (Peabody), Yong-Hi Moon (Peabody), Robert Shannon (Oberlin), Peter Takacs (Oberlin) and Marc Silverman (Manhattan School of Music). After auditioning and being accepted into all five of the conservatories & colleges he applied to, George chose to attend The Peabody Conservatory of Johns Hopkins University and study under Professor Boris Slutsky. George is honored to be one of only two freshmen accepted into Professor Slutsky's studio. Competition for entrance into Peabody was at a particularly high level with two hundred more prospective students auditioning this year over last years audition period. Several music scholarships were awarded to George in order to help further his education at Peabody, notably a very generous scholarship from the Plainfield Musical Club, a Scholarship for the Arts from the Fechtner Family, and a Watchung Hills Band Parents Scholarship.

In April of 2004 ALLEN YUEH (student of Yelena Ivanov), 12 years old, won second time the First Place in Piano Teachers Congress of New York in his age category. And he was also awarded a scholarship for outstanding musicianship that was previously reserved for older high school category. In August Allen made a formal recital debut, opening 2004 Sunset Concert Series at the Shandalee Music Festival in Upstate New York. This concert series included world-class renowned pianists (this year Earl Wild). Allen's program consisted of selections by Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Mendelssohn, and Schumann. In upcoming November Allen will perform Beethoven's Concerto No. 3 with the Plainfield Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Sabin Pautza.
